

Setting up a Citrix Client on a Macintosh

If you think a Citrix client was already set up on the computer, then you will need to delete any existing Citrix files and folders and set up the Citrix client again. To do this, first look for and delete any of the following files/folders:

- Folder: Citrix ICA Client (in the Applications folder)
- File: Citrix Receiver (in the Applications folder)
- Folder: Citrix (in the Library\ Application Support folder)
- File: CitrixICAClientPlugin.plugin (in the Library\ Internet Plug-ins folder)
- File: Citrix Online Plug-in.prefPane (in the Library\ Preference Panes folder)
- Folder: Citrix ICA Client (in the Users\ <Home>\ Library\ Preferences folder)
- File: com.Citrix.Citrix_Dazzle.plist (in the Users\ <Home>\ Library\ Preferences folder)
- File: com.Citrix.Receiver.nomias.plist (in the Users\ <Home>\ Library\ Preferences folder)
- Folder: Citrix (in the Users\ Shared folder)

Download and Install the Citrix client:

- If you are sure that there are no existing Citrix files or folders on the computer, then use any web browser and go to the Bookminders login web site login.bookminders.com .
- If you do not have a Citrix client on the computer then you should receive a notice on the Bookminders login web site login.bookminders.com to INSTALL one.
- Click on the INSTALL button and download the Citrix client disk image (dmg) file.
- Launch the downloaded Citrix client disk image file and click the icon to UNinstall any prior Citrix clients.
- Then click the icon to install the new Citrix client.
- You should then be able to login to the Bookminders server at login.bookminders.com with your Bookminders username and password.

Note: When you click on the Bookminders Server icon, the computer will download the Launch.ica file and automatically open it with the Citrix client. If the computer cannot determine which application to use to open the Launch.ica file (this may happen with Mac OS X 10.6), then:

- Control-click the downloaded Launch.ica file and select Show in Finder. This will open the download folder where you can select the Launch.ica file.
- Select the Launch.ica file and go to File\ Get Info.
- Select to open the Launch.ica file with Other.
- Browse to, and select the Citrix application (from Library\ Application Support\ Citrix\ Citrix online plug-in). Click the Change All button so that this application will always be used to open the Launch.ica file.
